Dear Laurence,

I am writing to express my appreciation and gratitude for all the assistance that you have provided and continue to provide to staff and students in the School of Psychology in the conduct of their research and education. This School is dependent upon the support of agencies and organisations such as yours to enable it to conduct its work. For several years now Saltbox has provided such support. I do hope that our relationship will further strengthen in the years ahead.

Kind regards,

Professor Michael Murray
Head of School of Psychology.
